Verbal Description

This is a rounded rectangular donut stone, with one face slightly concave ^{as smooth}, the more convex & rougher. The rest of the stone is shaped but not smoothed, even the inside of the hole isn't terribly smooth. The hole is off-center towards one corner. It was conically drilled from both sides, but the hole looks less like 2 cones than a cylinder, since the cones have very small angles. ~~The~~ The hole's outer diameter is 4 cm, its inner is 2.5 cm. No other marks.
